FEATURE TRIP FOR 2005

Key Largo in May May 8th to 14th

The Keys is one of our favorite dive locations. This location is like OLD home week for us. We spend the week, diving, relaxing and enjoying ourselves. The people on our trip that just returned had a ball. The diving was great. Visibility was about 80 feet some days. Also, we enjoyed night dives and some dive on wrecks. Comments like “Lets go again, today”, “Didn’t want to leave” were common.

We are returning in May. In May, the days are longer which will give us more dive time. Dawn and twilight dives are much easier to do in May.

On past May trips I have seen Eagle Rays and Hammerheads. The price includes 5 days of two tank dives, weights, tanks and charter boat, as well as accommodations at the dorm. We have other accommodations available for upgrade. We can put you in accommodations all the way from little Mom and Pop rooms to Sheridan or Marriot. You decide which you want and we will assist with the arrangements.

With the Keys, being part of the US, you don’t have to worry about exchange rates, customs and many of the other hassles of flying with dive equipment. Quiescence will let you ship you dive equipment direct to them. No worries, just pick it up there at their shop when you arrive.

Words from Mark

With the holidays behind us and spring FAST approaching, it is time to start thinking about our dive season. SIS is offering both local dive trips, as well as the usual Key Largo trips, Texas Flower Gardens, and a variety of local summer outings. Time Pasted so quickly....

Over the past year, Southern Indiana Scuba has experienced some major changes. Anita has gone on leave to get her degree in nursing, Megan Fries has left to do a internship in Miami, then on to the real world. Our present staff include Laura Burke, Carol Polhemus, John Ostler, Rick Powell, Bill Cain and Joshua Kreigh, all who work part-time at the shop. When you stop by, and there are some new faces in the crowd, just say "Hey". They are learning the store, and will get up to speed quickly. Our new personnel are not Anita or Megan, but each one is special in their own way. Anita will be returning after August, she hopes. Right now, her main emphasis is just getting through the nursing course.

Come meet the new staff. John Ostler and Bill Cain will be sharing the service duties while George is on leave with Thomas. (see next story)

Our Dive Family is growing again... George and Lisa Connolly have a baby boy, born March 24, whose name is Thomas. This is George and Lisa's first child. We would like to wish George and Lisa all the best during this GREAT adventure .

SOUTHERN INDIANA SCUBA REACHES A MILESTONE

This year SIS celebrates 30 years of service to central and southern Indiana. In 1975, Mr. Charlie Beeker had a vision for the need of a recreational service to the Bloomington area. He established a retail store on south Walnut Street that offered equipment, training, and guided trips to the underwater enthusiasts. When he discovered that the business and his duties at the University of Indiana demanded too much time, the store was sold to Mr. Robert Kessler who operated it for several years.

In 1998, Mr. Kessler sold the store to Mark Brooks to dedicate all of his time to teaching at Indiana University. Mark has worked diligently for the past 7 years to expand the store's services and equipment to students and experienced SCUBA divers. During this time, Southern Indiana Scuba has grown from the little scuba shop to get you mask, fins, snorkel and boots to a PADI 5 Star Dive Center offering in-house hydro testing, PSI visual inspections, EAN fills, EAN training, Dive Travel and much more.

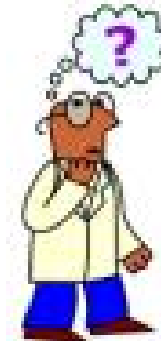

The hard work of the owners and loyalty of the customers have made this possible.

To celebrate this milestone in business, Southern Indiana Scuba will be holding a 30 year party. Watch for more information about this event in our NEXT newsletter. We plan to have Charles Beeker stop by and reminisce with you about the "good ole days."

Mark hopes to provide service to his faithful customers for many years to come.

What is next in our future?

Be sure to come in to swap stories about our favorite dive experiences and help plan our next 30 years.

Congratulations to the NEWEST PADI Pros:

Tim Mickleborough: PADI Divemaster & Assistant Instructor
James Smale: PADI Assistant Instructor.

NEW EQUIPMENT FOR 2005

The Suunto D-9 from Aqua Lung and Suunto is a wrist watch with sixteen functions. It features a EAN dive computer with three mixes and a digital compass. It is a hoseless dive computer. The Suunto D9 is the world's first dive computer to incorporate a digital compass. The compass shows the general direction with a graphical compass rose, as well as the exact bearing with a numerical display. Headings can be stored in Suunto D9's memory for later analysis. The compass can naturally be used on land too. By using Suunto D9's optional wireless transmitter, the diver can also monitor tank pressure and air consumption data from the wrist.

The remaining tank pressure is displayed both numerically and graphically, and an estimation of the remaining air-time is given throughout the dive. This allows the diver to monitor the remaining air supply at the same time as he monitors depth and time. Real time air consumption is also stored in the memory. The beautifully designed Suunto D9 has a titanium housing and includes an USB-compatible PC interface and the Suunto Dive Manager 2.0 software. The Suunto D9 is the ultimate instrument of choice for all kinds of recreational, military and professional diving.

Competitive divers such as freedivers, as well as technical divers, who do not compromise when it comes to the quality, materials and functionality of their equipment, will find Suunto D9 an invaluable diving aid. This instrument is a very stylish, complete dive computer that will be easy to use. We have it in stock now. Stop by and see it.
